

Runtime	Audio	Video	Narration
00:00:00	Music: Sleeping Angels	August 2015 footage of PD, interiors and exteriors	It has been a half century since our voices have been heard here. It was May 1965 when we last walked these halls, saying our last goodbyes, bringing to a close our Palo Duro story, eager to begin our next journey. Since then all of us have lived out our lives, decade by decade, until now we look back fifty years and remember—remember the world of our school days. At this time of celebration and remembrance, perhaps it's worth a moment or two to revisit our days at Palo Duro and the growing world of war, conflict and change that we lived through during our senior year.
01:11:16	Music: Eve of Destruction	Vietnam helicopter operations sequence	None
04:46:16	Music: Wonder and Awe	Class picture motion, pan left to right
04:49:16		Title: Old Segundo Productions
05:02:17		Title: Long Journey Home

05:20:29		Class picture pan continues	Our young faces look out at the camera, unaware of the future that faced us. We lived for the moment in our own special world, filled with hope and enthusiasm, confident that our future would hold only good and extraordinary things for us. During these final days at Palo Duro, we focused on savoring the special moments, creating some lasting memories, knowing that soon we would be gone. This is OUR story and the world in which we lived—a story that will allow us, after a half century of living, to travel that long journey home
06:55:20		Dissolve into Palo Duro life sequence 1	None
08:26:28	Music: Windward	Newspoint Sept 1964 Goldfinger Premieres	None
08:40:00	Goldfinger Trailer	Goldfinger Trailer	None
11:26:04	Music: Infinite Plains	Teacher group sequence 1
		Title: Our Teachers

		Teacher individual sequence 2	Our teachers were special—they were our mentors, our guides, our counselors, our friends. They have remained so after all these many years. Their investment in us have paid rich dividends in many ways. They came from many regions of our nation. Some were young, some were old. Some were a part of the Greatest Generation, although we did not know it at the time. They were quiet about themselves, focused on only us. They were led by Windy Nicholas, a steadfast figure who valued character above all else. Together they made their mark on us, one that would make a difference on the journey that we would travel. We owe them a great debt, one that can never be repaid. But we can remember, we can honor them, and keep them in our hearts forever.
15:01:13	Music: Windward	Newspoint Oct 1964 Coca Cola Commercial	None
15:13:19	Music: Coca Cola Commercial	Coca Cola Commercial	None
15:46:09	Music: An Era Begins	Leadership motion sequence

		Title: Leadership and Serving Hearts	Thomas Jefferson believed that leaders were natural-born, that God gave them the talent of leadership at birth. According to Jefferson, as you lived your life, you learned how to apply the leadership gifts that you already had. Windy Nicholas pulled David Hall aside soon after he was elected our class president and counseled him on his new responsibilities as a leader. Windy was big into the business of developing leaders. Across the campus we find leaders in every area of campus life. These leaders helped make Palo Duro special during our years there.
19:06:18	Music: Windward	Newspoint Nov 1964 Political Commercial Ad	None
19:19:07	Daisy Nuclear Ad	Daisy Nuclear Ad	None
20:18:01	Music: Metal of Valor	Amarillo AFB sequence Title: Air Force Blue	A large group of new students joined our class at Horace Mann Jr. High for the 9th grade. These were the base kids who finished the 8th grade at Highland Park School, and the Air Force bused them from the airbase to Horace Mann every day. Other Air Force kids lived in town and went to Travis Jr. High. The next year they all became Palo Duro Dons with the rest of us as we left Travis and Horace Mann. Some of their fathers were B-52 air crews in the Strategic Air Command. Their aircraft were loaded with thermonuclear bombs, and when their fathers went to work, many of them spent time on the ready ramp or in the air on long deterrent sorties in case of nuclear war. Here's a typical

21:15:02		B-52 takeoff , view from cockpit	day at the office.
22:20:00		Base kids sequence 1	Other parents supported the nuclear mission in many other ways. These base families were a part of Amarillo's role in the Cold War and lived with the prospect of war every day.
??????		Base closing sequence	These new Dons brought much to our class. Before moving to Amarillo, they had lived in many countries and cultures. Widely traveled during their young lives, they brought the world to our doorstep. With the announcement of the closing of Amarillo Air Force base, many of our classmates left Amarillo for other air bases across the world. Some were Dons but a short time and others stayed on to graduate with us in 1965. Regardless of their time spent at Palo Duro, each one will be a part of the Class of 1965 forever. Once a Don, always a Don. The base kids integrated into all aspects of our class as we moved from our sophomore year into the junior year and beyond.
23:42:06	Music: Windward	Newspoint Dec 1964 NBC introduces Rudolph	None
23:54:05	The Peppermint	The	None

29:15:16	Music: Too Late to Kiss You Now Music: Cool as Cool Does	Stull motion sequence	In 1964 the Cords signed a 5-year contract with Norman Petty in Clovis—Petty was the producer of Buddy Holly and a host of other well-known bands. The Cords were much in demand for dances at Palo Duro and throughout the area. During our senior year, Petty released a single on ATTCO records, a division of Atlantic Recording Corp. You can hear the British influence in Too Late to Kiss You Now. None Eventually Glen and the others dropped out and Billy continued on into the college years with a series of replacement musicians as he kept the Cords alive and active. Graduation from college and Billy’s military service during the Vietnam era brought the Cords’ story to a close. Later Billy moved into producing and studio work, first taking over the Petty studios after Petty’s death and carrying on operations there for the Petty Estate. Soon Warner Bros. lured Billy to a new label where he went on to establish his credentials in the music industry. After a 49-year span in the music business - from being a musician, song writer, manager, publisher, producer, live sound and recording engineer, record label executive, mastering engineer, and owner of Legendary Audio, Billy's experience became the foundation of Masterpiece Mastering, now headquartered on San Padre Island. It has been a long and winding road for Billy Stull since those 9th grade beginnings of the Cords, over a half century ago.
----------	--	----------------------------------	---

32:10:01	Music: Windward	Newspoint Jan 1965 Winston Churchill Dies	None
32:23:13	Churchill Funeral	Churchill Funeral	None
35:40:05	Arkade	Palo life sequence Title: Busy Dons	At Palo Duro there was a place for everyone. Some were interested in sports, others in music, still others in drama. There were clubs specializing in academic subjects, those where service to others was key, and many groups that emphasized the more practical aspects of education. Everywhere you looked, you would find members of our class as they made a place for themselves.
38:44:12	Music: Windward	Newspoint Feb 1965 Ranger 8 to the moon
38:58:22	Ranger 8 animation	Ranger 8 animation
40:46:27	Music: Ever After	Honors sequence

		Title: Faces of Palo Duro Lower Third Title: Mr/Miss Palo Duro Lower Third Title: Runners Up Mr/Miss Palo Duro Lower Third Title: Senior Favorites Lower Third Title: Runners Up Senior Favorites Lower Third Title: Don & Dona	During our senior year, many classmates rose to the surface, chosen for their leadership, scholarship, and contribution to Palo Duro. Whether selected by our class or by our teachers, the faces of Palo Duro represent great achievement and high standards that supports the idea that the Class of 1965 is the Best Class Alive.
--	--	---	---

		Lower Third Title: Cheerleaders
		Lower Third Title: King & Queen
		Lower Third Title: Football Sweetheart
		Lower Third Title: Basketball Sweetheart
		Lower Third Title: FHA Sweetheart
		Lower Third Title: Key Club Sweetheart
		Lower Third Title: FBLA Sweetheart

		Lower Third Title: Hi-Y Sweetheart
		Lower Third Title: Archemedians Sweetheart
		Lower Third Title: French Language & Customs Sweetheart
		Lower Third Title: Auto Mechanics Sweetheart
		Lower Third Title: Vocational Metals Sweetheart
		Lower Third Title: Distributive

		Occupation Sweetheart Lower Third Title: FTA Favorites Lower Third Title: Y-Teens Favorite Lower Third Title: Thespians Favorites Lower Third Title: Honor Society Favorites Lower Third Title: Latin Customs & Language Favorites
--	--	--	--

44:32:22	Music: Windward	Newspoint Mar 1965 First Ground Troops to Vietnam	None
44:46:01	Marines land at Danang	Marines land at Danang	None
44:50:11		Lower third: U.S. Marines land at Danang, March 1965
45:48:04	Music: The Waiting	21 st century community sequence Title: Our Community Lives On	As we have grown older, our friendships have grown stronger. As each milestone passes, we gather together to enjoy each other. We all turned 65 together, qualified for Social Security in the same year, and find that our bonds grow deeper as the years pass by. Our community continues on as we make new memories as each year comes and goes. Reunions, the Divas, and the connections of our community lives on as we enjoy each other in each new stage of life that we live.
49:05:25	Music: Windward	Newspoint April 1965 1965 Oscar for Best Song	None
49:18:25	Oscar

50:24:22	presentation Music: Kiss of Love	Oscar presentation Lingering Memories sequence Title: Lingering Memories	None As we approach our seventh decade, it is fitting to remember the years of our youth and those classmates whom we have lost along the way. Our lives are now filled with grandchildren and great-grandchildren, family traditions, happy retirement times, and the prospect of continuing to enjoy our families over a long and rewarding life. Let's spend a few moments with the lingering memories of Palo Duro and of our classmates, teachers, and friends from those times so long ago.
53:54:25	Music: Windward	Newspoint May 1965 Class of 1965 Graduates	None
54:08:10	Music: January Angels	Graduation sequence Title: Graduation	 Now over a half century since we received our diplomas that brought to an end one journey and marked the beginning of another, we look back at that long and winding road traveled. Along the way, we have lost many of our teachers and classmates as the years have rolled by. As long as one of us remains, their memories will live forever.

55:08:10	Music: Epic Journey	Memorial roll	None
58:32:01	Music: Quest for Adventure	Credits	None
			-30-